Brian Coleman Named 2019 School Counselor of the Year by the American School Counselor Association

ALEXANDRIA, VA - Brian Coleman, a school counselor and counseling department chair at Jones College Prep in Chicago, III., has been named frustration about the lack of resources, relationship support and inclusive language for gender and sexual minorities in the freshman sexual health curriculum. In response, Coleman collaborated with the Student Government Association to spearhead a revised sexual health education program for 377 sophomore students.

necessary actions that have allowed our school to include more hours of sex education

Sheryl Ordonez, senior at Jones College Prep.

opportunities to freshman, junior and senior students.

Coleman holistic approach to school counseling at Jones College Prep includes advocating for expanded education and knowledge for students as well as school staff. According to vice principal Plunkett, in addition to postsecondary planning and academic planning, Coleman has a strong commitment to ensuring the school prov