

---

---

By Taneshia Greenidge, University of Memphis; Sondra Smith-Adcock, University of Florida; Huzeyfe Cakmakci, Valdosta State University; and Yi-Wen Su, Portland State University

To explore school counselors' experiences during the COVID-19 pandemic migrating counseling services online. Researchers interviewed 14 school counselors with a focus on the use of technology and transformative practices.

The research provides insight into school counselors' experience during the COVID-19 pandemic and how they migrated counseling services during this time. The findings of the study included five themes:                   ed five